AROUND the TOWNSHIP

Something new in the manner of dealing with local problems is the "complaint night" featured by the Irvington Junior Chamber of Commerce. All residents of the community are invited to air their pet grievances at the Chamber meeting and those things which can be handled by the organization are turned over to committees.

Complaints range all the way from finding dead dogs on the road to a lack of patriotism as demonstrated in the number of flags flown on the Fourth of July.

Washington Township was fortunate again during the violence that occurred in the apricot belt due to the dead lock on prices for that portion of the season's crop that is to be canned. The only evidence of any sort of what was going on was found in the dumping of about 700 boxes of cots from a Niles ranch and that took place after the truck had reached a Sunnyvale cannery.

In accepting a compromise, the California Apricot Growers Union won recognition from the canners as a price bargaining unit. This is claimed to be the first situation of its kind in the agricultural history of the state.

We are asking where does that lead and what does it portend?

Premium lists mailed out last week by the management of the Alameda County Fair give a fair idea of the wide diversity of products native to this county.

With cash prizes for exhibits to be brought to the fair at Pleasanton August 10 to 13, totaling approximately $7,000, the success of the event seems assured.

In a county where fine horses, sheep and cattle enjoy a world wide renown, the livestock department heads the list with premiums amounting to $2,900 being offered.

CITIZENS ASKED TO DONATE BOOKS FOR ARMY MEN OVERSEAS

Books donated will be used to form libraries for the 31st Infantry at Cuernavaca de Espana in the Philippines and the Fourth Marines at Chinwangtao, China. Detective and Western stories have been especially requested, as they are the favorite reading matter for the men. The shipment will leave San Francisco in August.

Large Number Enjoy Newark Celebration Of Holy Ghost Fiesta

NEWARK — For the first time in the history of the Holy Ghost Fiesta, the celebration was picketed. The picketing took place last Sunday at Newark due to the fact that non union music was used.

Committees in charge said no official notice had been given them of intentions of the picketing group.

There was no attempt to prevent persons from entering the park where the fiesta was in progress however, and no trouble was reported. The fiesta opened with fireworks and dancing Saturday night and the big parade was held Sunday morning after which a free barbecue was served to nearly 5,000 people. A total of 5,000 pounds of beef and 750 loaves of bread was consumed.

Bumper Grain Crop Being Harvested In Areas Of Township

DECOTO — A bumper crop of barley and other grains is reaching its harvesting peak in Washington Township this week, the crop said to be the largest in the past 10 years, according to officials of the C. F. Salz Company at Decoto.

Fifteen hundred tons of barley have already been sacked and stored in the huge store house to be packed to the ceiling with 100,000 sacks before the season is closed in about five weeks. Nearly half this amount will come from the township.

Stock and poultry men will benefit by low feed prices to follow. According to a report received here from the Federal State Market News Service in San Francisco, acreage seeded this year was the second largest since 1917. The distribution for 1938-39 has been the smallest in seven years.

A large portion of California barley goes to England for brewing purposes. The quality of this year's grain is said to be excellent.

Apricot Growers Ask Governor For Probe On Entire Industry

SAN JOSE — A compromise between members of the California Apricot Growers Union and the canners was reached at San Jose on Tuesday night.

The compromise prices were announced as follows: $30 per ton for size 14 fruit; $35 per ton for No. 12's, and $25 per ton for 16's. The $30 price for 14's, the average canning size apricots, was the same as that originally offered by the canners and for which growers sought $32.50 per ton. The $35 price for 12's was $2.50 per ton higher than the canner's previous offer.

A series of conferences with an arbitration board consisting of Frank C. Mitchell, banker; Bradley Clayton, realty operator and Leon Jacobs, clothier and Chamber of Commerce president, resulted in the canners offering a "take it or leave it" compromise of from $25 to $35 per ton in the three major canning apricot size ranges last night.

CENTERVILLE — Eighty five apricot growers of Southern Alameda County met at Parish Hall last Friday night to discuss the situation which was deadlocked over the growers' demands for $42.50 top price for first quality cots and the canners offer of $30. Reports of offers of $37.50 in this section went unconfirmed, the highest offer known having been $32.50.

A resolution asking Governor Olson to make a thorough investigation of the apricot industry was adopted. It had been previously adopted by the California Apricot Growers Union.

Local growers took part in the parade staged as a public demonstration in San Jose. Vandalism reported in Santa Clara county where boxes have been burned and cots dumped has failed to be repeated in this section.

The resolution adopted at the meeting here, according to Manuel Bernardo, chairman of the Alameda County Apricot Growers' Union, asked the governor to institute a legislative investigation at the earliest possible moment into the methods used by the canning and packing corporations in their fruit purchasing dealings with the apricot growers; make a thorough survey of the apricot industry, gathering data from all parties concerned with a view to reaching a full understanding of the entire apricot industry of the state.

The resolution asked that the legislative body make recommendations for an immediate correction of the abuses, wrongs and injustices which they may find, to the end that the apricot grower of California may be benefited and be placed on the same equal basis and enjoy the same rights and prerogatives as other citizens of the state are accorded in all legitimate businesses and pursuits.

A BATTLE OF THE AGES

There's a battle of the ages in the making as age lines up against youth in the race to grab first share of the national income. In November, California will vote on a plan to give strawberries and cream to the aged. In their annual convention last week in San Francisco, the nation's educators voiced an insistent demand for more millions for youth.

Who shall enjoy the cream of the national income, youth or age? It has been a basic tenant of the American Way that nothing is too good for youth. Since the Pilgrim fathers first leaved the logs for a one room school on the shores of Plymouth Bay, education of the young has had first call on the pocket-books of America, in lean years and good.

But of late the demands of age have risen to an insistent shout. Utopian dreams have given way to Epic plans, and Epic plans to pension proposals. Now California is called upon to sponsor the newest plan of all, a house of warrants to shelter the aged.

Already the demands of age have had their reaction on the needs of youth. New York, faced by an unprecedented old-age pension, has been forced to curtail classes, disband kindergartens, and end evening schools. Other states have shortened the school year, slashed salaries, closed schools.

Who shall enjoy the cream of the national income? Blessed with all the bounty of nature, equipped with the genius and talent to use that nature to our best interests, there is no reason why America cannot produce enough for all—young and old. That we can never do, however, as long as the minds of America's young bodies and old heads are turned, not toward what we can produce, but what we can spend. It's eyes to the front—if age and youth are to have the bountiful plenty they demand and need.

FIGHT IN COUNTY ON TUBERCULOSIS ENTERS NEW PHASES

With the close of the last school semester, the Alameda County Tuberculosis and Health Association had tested 11,546 students in various schools of the county.

The benefit of this important work cannot be over emphasized, as each case of active or incipient tuberculosis discovered and either treated or segregated, protects the other students and their families from possible infection. The tests also brought to light other indications, particularly of heart and various non-pulmonary disabilities.

During the summer months the association will carry out tests in a number of industrial plants, under the medical departments of the companies. This work has been in contemplation for some time, and a start has already been made with about 250 office employees of the SRA.

The association's fight against tuberculosis recognizes no vacation period, but is vigorously carried in all its branches at every season of the year.

The project, recently dedicated by Governor Culbert L. Olson, will give the Fair the largest junior division of any state fair in the country.

New programs are arranged for the livestock division, the horse show, the horse racing department and the other major divisions numbering fifteen.

The night show will be known as the "State Fair Vanities" this year, and talent has been selected from Hollywood, New York, Australia and London. The outdoor show will have a cast of 250.

FEED your herd on a ration containing 1/5 to 2/5 El Dorado Coconut Meal—as "insurance" on your cream checks!

"Insurance"—because El Dorado meals are rich with important vegetable proteins that cows need to produce butterfat to the potential of the breed.

"Insurance"—because El Dorado meals keep your herd in good condition for high production.

"Insurance"—because El Dorado's oil by-products goes into soap and not into human food. El Dorado Oil Works believes in a better butterfat price, and strives to help obtain it. And El Dorado pays California raisers of flax and peanuts $750,000 yearly for their crop.
